Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-8, 10-22 are allowed over the prior art of record.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art of record fails to teach a method and a system of reducing telephone usage charges by a telephone service provider for connecting a source telephone or a target telephone, comprising communicating to an incoming call server of a computer system a source telephone number of a source telephone, the source telephone number having a telephone billing rate plan providing a discounted rate for incoming calls; communicating to the computer system a target telephone number of a target telephone; initiating a call back from an outgoing call server of the computer system on a first telephone line to the source telephone, the outgoing server separate from and networked to the incoming call server; after receiving target data comprising a target telephone number, initiating a call from the outgoing call server on a second telephone line to the target telephone; connecting the source telephone on the first telephone line with the target telephone on the second telephone line via the outgoing server of the computer system to define a telephone call, a source telephone service provider for the source telephone number and a target telephone service provider for the target telephone number each interpreting the telephone call as an incoming call; and based on the interpretation, the source telephone provider billing the source telephone number at the discount rate for incoming calls for the telephone call. These limitations, in combination with the remaining limitations of claims 1, 14-15, 17, are not taught nor suggested by the prior art of record.
